FESTIVAL DETAILS FORM DISCUSSION

Members Favor Orchestra Instead of Band—East End Detour Discussed.

Details of the amusement program and display arrangements for the coming Harvest Festival were discussed at the meeting of the Middlesboro Merchants' association at theh Elks home last night. The tentative program of contests and novelty amusements was read and approved by the members.

The members voted to engage an orchestra instead of a band. The latter can be hired for two days at little more than half the price charged by a band and, it was said, members of the orchestra will be able to offer a greater variety of entertainment than could an ordinary band.

Expense of the orchestra will be defrayed by subscriptions by members of the association or others who care to contribute.

W. S. Anderson was made chairman of a committee which will confer with the city officials in regard to closing East Cumberland avenue. Some of the members contended that the detour designated by the city will not be in fit condition for use during the Festival if the weather is rainy The general wish is that the work on East End be deferred until after the Festival.

Members of the association are giving a great deal of their time to the coming event and interest in it increases as the opening date draws nearer.

NEW CITIZENS REVERE MEMORY OF LINCOLN

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 5.—Of the thousands of pilgrims who annually visit the tomb of Abraham Lincoln, the most enthusiastic and most welcome, according to H. W. Fay, custodian, are the immigrants who are just about to become American citizens

Crowned heads, ambassadors, famous generals, prime ministers and presidents come by the score to lay wreaths on the sarcephagus of the martyred president. And men and women from more humble walks of life come too.

"Many times a year the foreign born coal miner comes to Springfield from neighboring towns to take out his first citizenship papers," said Mr. Fay, 'and he is the most reverent visitor of all. I like to tell men like that about the martyred president."

There has never been any disorder at the tomb within the memory of the president custodian. "Everybody who comes here is quite and reverential," he said. "I have never had to ask a visitor to remove his hat."

RED CROSS NURSE ACTIVE IN AUGUST

Many Distressing Cases Attended By Miss Marx—Local Organizations Assist.

Miss Wilhelmine Marx has been very busy during the past month in attending to and relieving cases of distress in the city. Her report in full follosw:

"The nurse returned from her vacation on August 6, and found a great deal of sickness and distress. A great deal of bedside and relief work was done during the month. In one family a mother and twin babies were all ill, the mother having been confined to her bed for practically three months. This family had been given quite a great deal of assistance during the month of June, and on the nurse's return the family was found in ver ydistressing circumstances. Four bills of groceries were sent, some bedding, also some medicines. The babies both died within a course of two weeks. Caskets were furnished by the Red Cross and both funerals were held from the residence of the Red Cross nurse.

"Several cases investigated by the nurse were found very worthy and are being assisted by the Baraca class and ladies of the Baptist church.

"Two patients were sent to the hospital, one being sent by the nurse with the consent of the mayor, the other one which was reported to Mr. W. S. Anderson. C. H., during the absence of the nurse, was admitted to the Brosheer-Brummitt hospital with the consent of our county magistrate.

"New shoes, clothing and a great many prescriptions were furnished by the organization during the past month. Provisions were also sent to a number of needy families. About 9:30 one evening the nurse was called on the case of a colored boy back of the furnaces. She immediately got in touch with the attending physician who had seen the boy for the first time that day, and reached the house. The nurse ordered Gibson Bros. to take the body to the morgue at once. Every effort was made to locate the boy's mother at Charlotte, N. C., but without avail, so the body was buried by the county.

"In the case of John Canaves, the child that the nurse has been trying to get here from Alexandria, Egypt, for the purpose of education, a letter received from the American consul at that place, stating that the boy would be compelled to wait until next year, and only a certain number of Egyptians are allowed to emigrate each year. The quota has already been reached this year.

"Miss Margaret East, supervisor of Red Cross Nursing Service, was in town five days going over the various phases of the work. She will send Edgar Davis, field supervisor to assist the nurse in straightening out and clearing up many home service cases that are still pending. A great many minor things were taken up during the month. A total of 265 visits were made during the month, of which 102 were bedside visits. Forty-three social service and 120 were miscellaneous visits.

"Respectfully submitted.
"WILHELMINE MARX.
"Red Cross Nurse."

SIDEWALK TO BE BUILT FROM HIGH SCHOOL TO 20th.

The consetruction of a sidewalk from the ne whigh school building to Twentieth street was ordered at the special meeting of the city board of education last night.

The walk around the building will be ten feet in width, eight feet wide to Twentieth street and six feet wide to Edgwood road. One of he main arguments in favor of the new sidewalk is that cinders and gravel would likely be carried into the building if the present walks were used.

MIDDLESBORO IS ASKED TO HELP IN JAPANESE RELIEF

Relief work for the Japanese earthquake sufferers has been announced from Red Cross headquarters in Washington. All who wish to help in the relief work from Middlesboro should send their donation either to W. S. Anderson of the Middlesboro Hardware company, or to Miss Wilhelmina Marx.

Reports Somewhat Conflicting, But Account of Disaster Has Not Been Overdrawn—Red Cross Active.

KENTUCKIAN AMONG VICTIMS OF FIRE AND EARTHQUAKE

As the story of the Japanese disaster is unfolded in fragmentary messages by Japanese newspapers and by individuals it is apparent that the magnitude of the catastrophe has not been overdrawn. In only one dispatch has there been a suggestion that the death list will not reach the porportions already indicated. This was a message from a radio corporation in Japan which said that the Japanese home office estimated the Tokio dead at 10,000, and Yokohama dead at 100,000. On the other hand, Admiral Edwin Anderson, of the American Aasiatic fleet says the latest unofficial report of casualties in Tokio and Yokohama is placed at 240,000 dead and 450,000 injured. Another estimate of this from an eastern news agency says 350,000 persons killed in entire stricken district.

Two hundrer and sixteen earthquakes were felt in Tokio last Saturday and fifty seven on Sunday. Flames that swept the capital burned fo 50 hours, leaving Tokio in ruins. Both quake and fire devasted an area of 21 square miles aand destroyed 350,000 houses which is more than half the city.

Yokohama has been wiped out according to an official statement received by the Japanese consul in San Francisco.

Meanwhile, Japanese cities unaffected by disaster, are bending every effort to rlieve the millions who are believed to be suffering from injuries and lack of food and 10 American warships and transports are speeding toward Japan with supplies.

New York, Sept. 5.—The international banking corporation today received a cable from Kobe stating that two of its ten American employes in Yokohama are missing. This includes McHenry Holbrook, Hartford, Ky., and H. W. Morse, Burlington, Vt. McHenry Holbrook is a son of Rowan Holbrook, Hartford, Ohio County, banker and tobacconist, age about 35. Sister, Mrs. Henderson Murphee lives here. His wife formrly Miss Mary Smith of Forbsville with him.

HARTFORD, Ky., Sept. 5.—Rowan Holbrook, father of McHenry Holbrook reported missing in Japanese disaster, received telegra mtoday stating that Holbrook and family were in the interior of Japan when earthquake occurred and that they are safe.

EDITOR OF PAPER FORMERLY OPERATED BY HUSBAND

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 31.—The nerve-straining task of publishing a newspaper never has been considered the job for a woman. But Mrs. William Wallace Barksdale shatters all traditions here by successfully issuing a daily paper formerly operated by her late husband.

Few women are equipped to publish a daily paper. Only those, and such are few indeed, who have been privileged to watch newspaper making from the inside, can appreciate the gruelling task it really is.

Very few women try it. So far as is known, only two survive. And Mrs. Barksdale, publisher of the Clarksville Leaf-Chronicle, is one of the latter.

W. W. Barksdale was a prominent Tennessee newspaper publisher for many years before his death. Even before that sad event his wife took an interest in his work, and gradually became active in the work. So that, when he died, she was ready to step into his place without ehe loss of a motion of the wheel.

Since then she has gained in prominence throughout her section and state. In her home life, Mrs. Barksdale is the typical southern woman, gracious and hospitable, and devoted to her only child, W. W. Barksdale Jr., who already shows a decided aptitude for newspaper work.

A THOUGHT

Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might; for there is no work, nor device, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in the grave, whither thou goest.—Eccl 9 10

[illegible]

SO ON, FOREVER

Down in Yucatan, southern Mexico, an army of Indians under the direction of scientists are digging up the palaces and temples of the ancient civilization of the Maya people. They lived more than 2000 years ago and were sufficiently advanced to produce a race of artists.

The Indians have several years of digging ahead of them. Discoveries fascinating, possibly sensational, will be made. You'll read a lot about this digging job in the news between now and 1926.

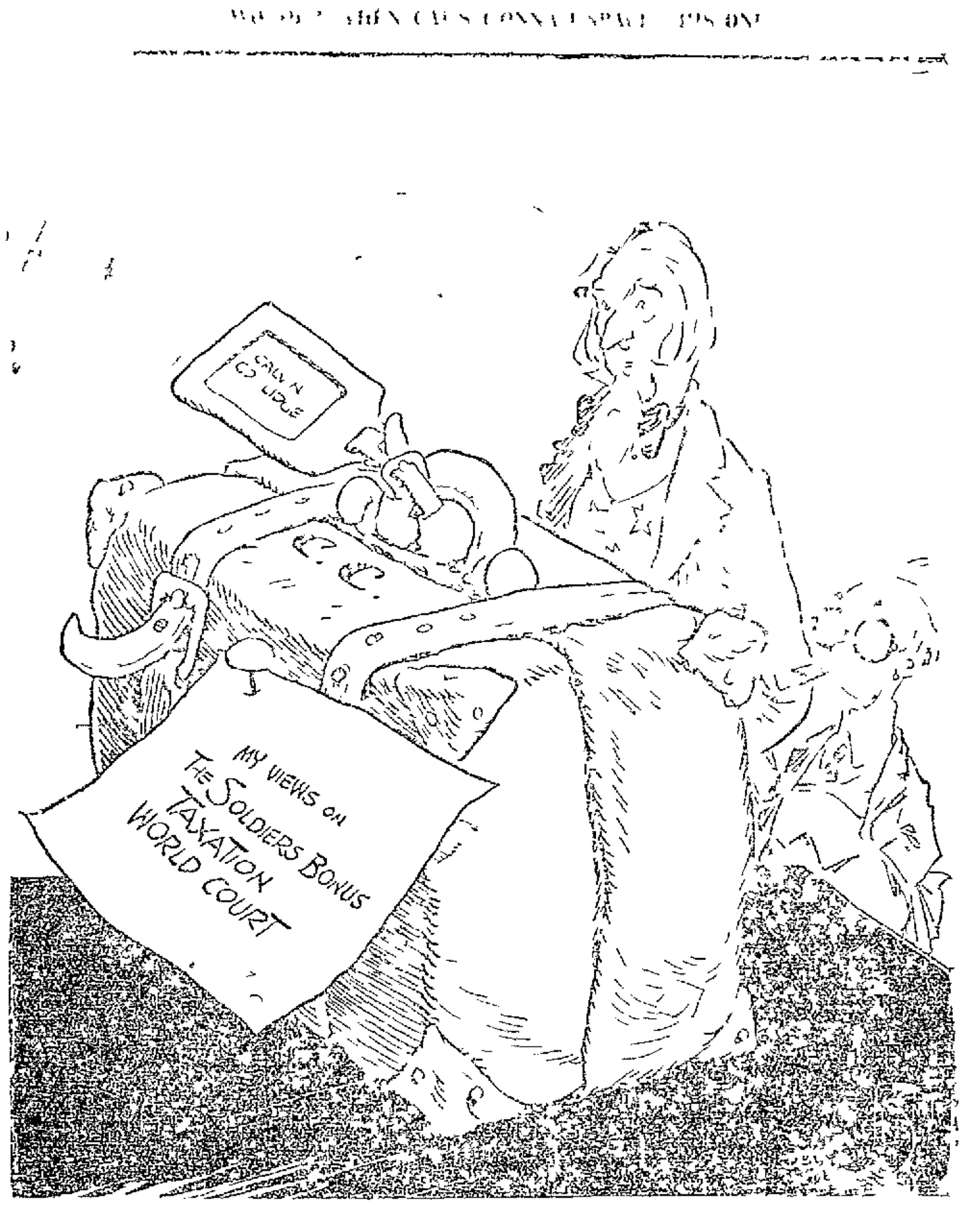

Chichen Itsa, chief city of the Mayas, was as large as Chicago is today. Thousands of years from now future scientists may be digging out of mud and sand the remains of Chicago.

Over in England Queen Mary finishes her famous doll's house. It's only eight feet high. But the greatest English architects designed it. English artists painted tiny pictures to hang on its walls. Barrie and other writers wrote miniature books for its library.

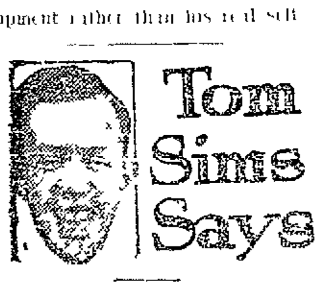

This doll's house is to be passed on to future generations as a perfect record of a fine English home in 192[illegible]. It has modern plumbing, electrical fittings, a garage housing wee autos, perfect to the last detail—even a wine cellar with real hooch in small bottles.

No matter what may be dug up in the Mayan ruins of Yucatan, it will seem crude alongside the devices of modern times. A lot of change comes in 2000 years. And after another 2000 years the doll's house of Queen Mary will seem as crude as Mayan ruins seem today.

Man is steadily improving himself toward an unknown but definite goal. Or maybe man is merely improving his equipment rather than his real self.

IN A London Square

Put forth thy leaf, thou lofty plane,
East wind and frost are safely gone;
With zephyr mild and balmy rain
The summer comes serenely on:
Earth, air and sun and skies combine
To promise all that's kind and fair,
But thou, O human heart of mine,
Be still, contain thyself, and bear.

December days were brief and chill,
The winds of March were wild and drear,
And, nearing and receding still,
Spring never would, we thought, be here,
The leaves that bust, the suns that shine,
Had, not the less, their certain date:
And thou, O human heart of mine,
Be still, refrain thyself, and wait.

Canned Apples

If you happen to possess an apple tree full of apples now why not can some for winter use when the fresh fruit is not at hand?

Canned apples are quite as good in apple sauce cake as fresh ones. They can be used for sauce, in puddings, and make a very good pie when the "timber" is scarce.

Can them with or without sugar. If canned with sugar they will require no sweetening when used.

Canned Without Sugar

Pare, core and quarter apples. Be sure to cut out all blemishes. A bruised spot in an apples will not cook tender, but will become hard and tasteless by cooking. Put into preserving kettle with enough water to cover and cook until tender, but not broken. Put into sterilized cans and seal. The cans must be brimming full and the fruit and sirup boiling hot when sealed. Wrap a towel around the cans to prevent breaking the can and burning the hands. Wring towel out of hot water and entirely cover can.

To use for pie, drain apples from juice, arrange in pie shell and sweeten to taste.

For sauce put contents of can in sauce pan, add sugar to taste and heat thoroughly.

Or apples can be put up by the cold pack method.

Cold Pack

Wash apples. Dip in boiling water for two minutes. Remove and dip in cold water. Pack in sterilized cans, pour over medium thin sirup and boil 20 minutes in hot water bath outfit.

Medium thin sirup is made by boiling three cups of sugar and two cans of water until the sirup is "sirupy" or about four minutes.

And here is a recipe for apple sauce cake:

Apple Sauce Cake

One cup sugar, 1-2 cup butter and lard mixed, 1 1-2 cups apple sauce, 2 cups raisins, 3 cups flour, 2 teaspoons soda, 1 cup nuts, 1-4 cup shredded citron, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon cold strong coffee, 1 tablespoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-2 teaspoon all-spice, 1-2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-4 teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening and sugar. Stir in apple sauce. Sift one cup flour over raisins. Stir into first mixture. Sift salt and soda with remaining flour. Add spices, nuts and citron and stir into first mixture. Add vanilla, lemon juice and coffee and mix thoroughly. Turn into a deep, well-buttered and floured brick pan and bake 1 1-2 hours in a slow oven.

This cake can be wrapped in oiled paper and stored in a tin box for indefinite keeping.

Sour apples can be used to make a delicious relish to serve with meats.

School Dresses

American Men Will Eat Anything Says French Chef

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—Suppose we stop picking on the flapper bride who serves her husband canned soup and delicatessen cold meats instead of some home-made bread and pot roasts and place the blame where it belongs—on the American husband.

It's his fault that the American woman thinks more of her clothes than she does of her cookbook, because her husband appreciates a smart frock more than an elaborate dessert, according to Emile Jacques.

Jacques is the chief of the French liner The Lafayette. While sailing the seven seas for two decades Jacques has acquired one of the largest repertories of recipes of any cook in the world. But if his passengers only had been American would have become famous as a culinary artist.

"A cook thrives on praise and appreciation quite as much as a singer or an actor." He confessed to me. There is no incentive to develop one's talents unless the audience is responsive.

He'll Eat Anything

"The average American man has less discrimination about food than any other man in the world. You can feed him steak and potatoes every night and he never complains, or you can feed him from tin cans and paper boxes and he stands for that—for a while at least.

"His tolerance makes hi mthe most agreeable and amiable man in the world. But it does not develop a race of superlative cooks. The wife develops along the lines of her husband's appreciation, and until he realizes the art in cookery, he will find himself paying for the college education of his delicatessen merchant's son."

Men of other countries are not so tolerant when it comes to their food, Jacques has learned.

They're Very Particular

"The Frenchman is most particular," he went on. "His food always must be correctly served and delicately flavored. The French wife must be a good cook to hold him. Next to the Frenchman, the Italian is most particular. The Englishman cares less for variety, but what he likes is very fastidious about. Scandinavian women must know how to prepare hundreds of fancy and intricate dishes to please their husbands' palates. Only the American wife can do as she pleases."

Jacques is an international cook. He can get up a dinner for a maharajah or a duke with ease, or any guest on his boat may order his particular dish and find it done to his taste. But praise and appreciation have made him what he is, and he assured me indifference would have stifled his creative ability.

So to any husband who would revive the home-cooked meal, he advises a little judicious campaign of appreciation, and to any woman who wishes mastery of the following dishes:

Sole au Gratin

Remove the skin from a sole and clean it carefully so that no blood remains inside, then place on a baking dish that can stand the fire. Put salt and pepper on both sides and chop two or three shalots and a little parsley, and spread over the fish. Then sprinkle with bits of butter and a layer of bread crumbs. Cook and serve it on the same dish.

Veal a la Parisienne

Cut a shoulder of veal into small cubes and then put them into a stewpan in which you have melted a medium-sized piece of butter. When it has browned slightly, add some chopped parsley and an onion, a couple of tomatoes and salt and pepper to taste. Stew for an hour and a half over a slow fire, then remove the meat and put the vegetable and meat liquor through a strainer and use as a sauce to pour over the meat.

Omelet au Fromage

Allow two eggs for each person and beat them lightly with a fork for a minute or more in a bowl with salt and pepper. Add two or three spoonsful of grated gruyere cheese. Mix it well with the eggs and pour onto a buttered pan—where the butter is just hot enough to steam. A second or so later pass a fork around the side of the pan to loosen the eggs and work them back as though you were scrambling them. Fold one side onto the other and slide it on the dish so that the one-half finishes the cooking of the other as it rests on it.

WHAT'S NEW IN FROCKS

What's new? Everything, as at these three dresses for instance. The first is smartly tailored with a skirt that is three tiered in front and quite plain in back. Notice the collar, the slit front of the blouse and the strip of buttons down the side of the skirt. There can't be anything newer than this dress is!

The second one, too. The second one has wide skirt flounce that is pulled to the waist on one side. That's all there's ever single bit that need be said about this dress.

And the third! The third has a front a straight bodice front, elaborate many pleated front panel descending from a straight bodice front, a normal waistline and long tight sleeves. And if there are any newer or more fashionable frocks than these, they have remained quite invisible.

The Railroads Help To Educate Your Children

The Railroads contribute a very generous share towards the education of the children of this country. They bear a goodly percentage of the tax burden which provides for the building and the maintenance of public schools. A large part of the total of more than $300,000,000 which the Railroads pay yearly in State, County and City taxes, is utilized by the various communities to construct school buildings, purchase equipment and provide an efficient teaching corps for the proper education of children.

The Railroads also help the cause of education by making possible the wide distribution of newspapers, magazines and other forms of educational matter—bringing the people who live in remote hamlets in closer touch with the work and progress of the world.

The Railroads enable the boys and girls who live on the farms or in the towns to go cheaply and quickly to wherever the finest, specialized educational facilities are offered—anywhere in the whole United States.

The Railroads also provide one of the greatest means of education—that of travel.

Within the territory served by the L. & N., and to which this Railroad contributes its quota of the cost of public education, are found some of the finest public school systems, universities, colleges, military, private and sectarian schools in the United States.

IS RADIO WANING? IT IS JUST AN "ACCEPTED" PART OF HOME ROUTINE

Every prediction made for radio two years ago when first it gained popularity has come true. For this reason despite a generally accepted belief by the public radio is more firmly entrenched than ever.

Two years ago radio was called a fad. People said it wouldn't last. They predicted that newspapers would cut down gradually the space devoted to the newest of inventions and as they cut down interest would lag until one would rarely hear the word radio spoken on the street.

That has happened.

But those on the inside steadily maintained that radio's natural evolution would be in that groove. When the radio idea had spread until it would invade an astonishing number of homes these insiders knew talk about radio would cease.

It then would be accepted like the telephone the motor car. One doesn't read columns about the telephone does he? Well said manufacturers and others it will be that way about radio.

Millions of homes today have radio sets. People don't purposely stay home to listen in anymore. But the number of fans is far greater than it ever was before. Men high in the world of industry and profession are just as deeply interested as they were two years ago.

The difference is they don't talk about it."

They accept it along with the other routine of home life. It means just as much to them as the phonograph. No more.

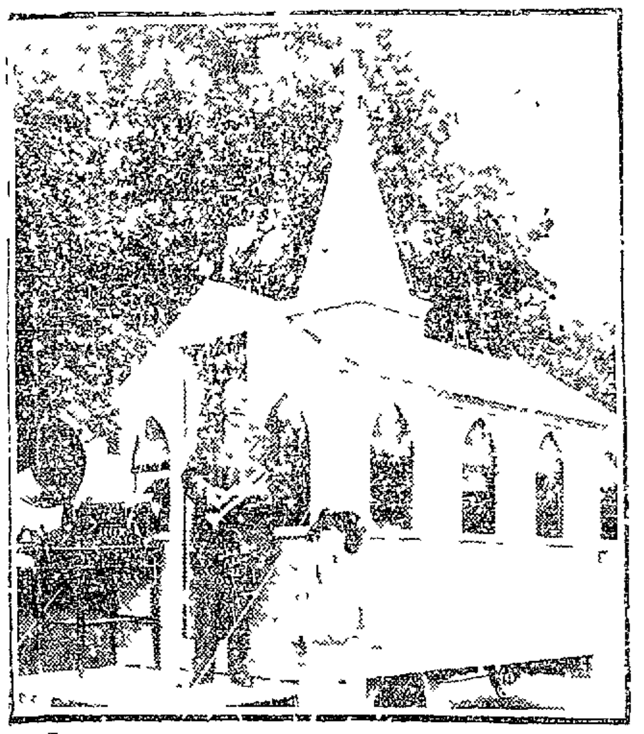

To the government's Bureau of Agriculture radio now is vital. Vast amount of news important to farming communities is broadcast daily. But you don't hear of it so much. It's just part of the routine.

And so it goes in other fields.

Can't Keep 'Em Down

England's red tape and rules governing radio broadcast reception is no deterrent to the popularity of this science there. Six thousand fans a month are applying for licenses to recieve broadcast concerts.

PANTHER'S CLAW CHANGES MAP

New York Sept 3—A panther's claw has just changed the map of Florida.

When several years ago a friend of Barron Collier New York millionaire and special deputy police commissioner, showed him the claw of a panther killed in Florida and mounted as a watch charm Collier became interested.

Subsequently led on by the claw Colliers went to Lee county Florida in which the panther had been killed and he liked the country so well that he first bought an island and then more than 1,000,000 acres of land.

Much of the land was wild country in which the panther had roamed before its claw became just a watch charm.

So he began to build roads and roads deepen waterways and started a boat line which would let the people of the undeveloped country into the outside world. He spent several million dollars.

Just a few years ago the Florida state legislature divided Lee county in two parts and created the county of Collier. Now all of the state maps must be changed.

Collier is one of New York's little known millionaires. He is a close friend of Rockefeller living across the road from them near Tarrytown. His hobby is safety work and his duties as special deputy commissioner of police are to keep the streets of the metropolis safe.

PRINCESS PREFERS TAXICAB TO ROYAL EQUIPAGE

LONDON Sept 1—Lately there has been stopping in London a pretty bobbed haired girl whose chief delights are to be a guest in a big hotel and then go sightseeing around town in an ordinary street bumping taxi.

When she's at home she lives in a palace. And when she goes out it is to ride in a state coach or in a big automobile with uniformed outriders.

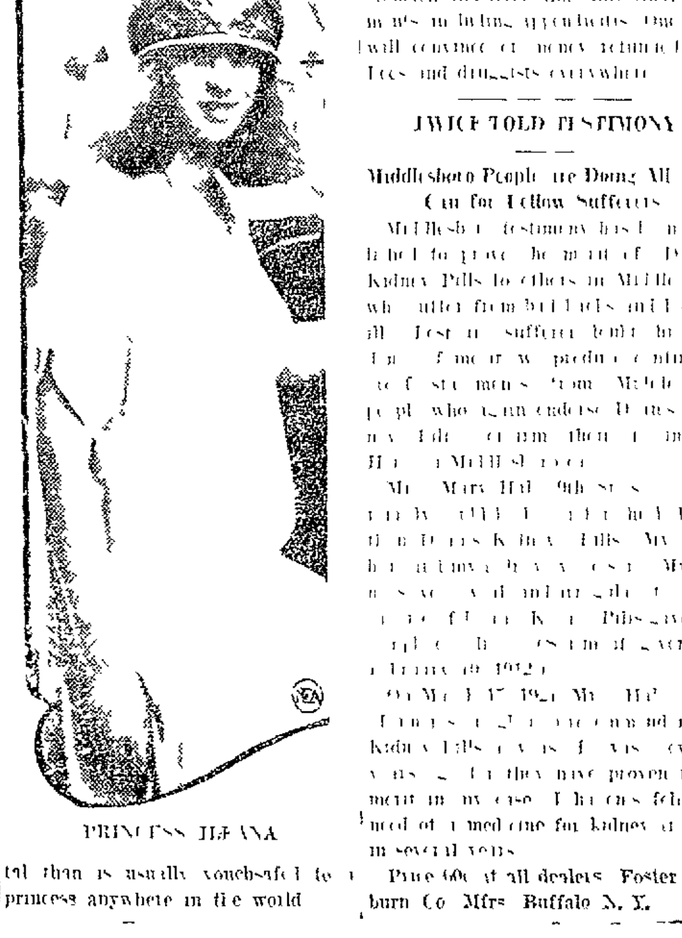

She calls a king papa and is on intimate terms with three queens. In fact she calls one of them mama and the other two Lissie and Mari.

For this favored girl is Ileana Princess of Roumania daughter of the royal rulers of that country and sister of the queens of Greece and Jugo Slavia. Only 15 and [illegible] age she is already known as the best looking of all the royal girls of Europe. And the gossip mongers have been busy rumoring her engagement to various sons of royalties including the Prince of Wales.

But the nothing doing sign has been hung up not only by her royal parents but also by Ileana herself. She says she is too young and besides there are a lot of things she wants to see before she settles down to the dull routine of some royal court.

One of the biggest treats her parents can give her is to let her come to London practically on her own. In fact her only companion is her governess Miss Mary a staid middle aged English woman.

Because of this freedom and her own taxi travels Princess Ileana sees more of real life in a big foreign capital than is usually vouchsafed to a princess anywhere in the world.

JEWISH NEW YEAR BEGINS NEXT MONDAY

The Jewish New Year, Rosh Hashanah, begins Monday evening, September 19, and lasts through the following day. It is a purely religious occasion and will be celebrated in every synagog and temple throughout the world. The rites here will be held in the Masonic temple. All the business houses of the Jewish merchants here will be closed on that day.

Rosh Hashanah registers the profoundest convictions of the Jewish people. Together with the Day of Atonement which occurs ten days later, it has always had a unique hold on the Jewish people the world over.

The New Year's Day is also Day of Judgement day. According to Judaism Judgement day is no held after man has died. Instead it takes place annually in this life in order to make man be for prepared for service to humanity.

Legend says that this is their 5685th year since the world was created. On Rosh Hashanah greetings are exchanged among friends and kindred. New Year's cards are mailed to relatives and friends and often telegrams are sent conveying best wishes and hopes for a year of health, happiness and worthiness.

"STARVE AND LIVE" PRESCRIBES BERNHARDT'S DOCTOR

NEW YORK, Aug. 31.—"Let the pantry take the medicine closet's place," advises Dr. Julie LaSalle Stevens, who prescribed the diet to which Sarah Bernhardt ascribed her remarkable vitality at three score and ten.

"Eat your way to health." 'Starve and live" are among the maxims of this dynamic little woman, as well known in Switzerland, Poland, India and China as in her native France, and now about to undertake a lecture tour of the United States

'You Americans,' she says, "constantly talk dieting, but only for beauty, not for health Beauty comes from within.

'Some doctors prescribe milk and eggs for the sick. They only feed the disease germs Acid juices and pineapple, orange, grapefruit and lemon, properly prescribed, are better than quarts of milk and dozens of eggs.

"A short, carefully directed starvation course will cure sooner than the most expertly dispensed opiates

'The Bible tells us to 'consider the lilies, how they grow.. It's more important to consider the animals, how they eat. When dumb beasts are ill they starve themselves

'The motorist keeps his automobile clean, the housewife keeps her ice box clean, but neither pays much attention to cleaning the body's ice box or lubricating its machinery.

'Diet sanely diet wisely, diet constantly and you never will be ill

"Only from diet can positive health ensue.'

DR. JULIE STEVENS

Keeping Normal

Dr. Stevens says:

If your system's sub normal, if you are nervous, forgetful, your system's poisoned, threatening serious illness Remedy:

1—To rid the system of poisons, from time to time drink the juice of half a lemon in a glass of hot water, taking nothing else for two or three days

2—Live on orange and pineapple juices and green salads for several days

3—The system thus cleansed for a week live on liquid food, avoiding milk as mucus forming

4—Back on a normal diet, drink orange juice daily on rising

5 Don't mix starches and acids at one meal

6—If you crave sweets between meals drink cold, not ice, water slowly.

7—Don't concentrate on mental work, answer phone calls or open letters for 30 minutes after eating.

8—Don't eat much, or at all, when angry, excited or exhausted.

9—Don't overeat; chew all food well.

DIVORCES RESULT HASTY MARRIAGES

Chicago Judge Believes in Reconciliation Instead of Divorce—Has Reconciled 550

CHICAGO, Sept [illegible]—Who is Judge Sabath?

He has reconciled more than 550 couples who came to him intending to obtain divorces.

He is the most quoted man between ... on the divorce question.

[illegible] ... 5 years and there isn't ... enthusiastic ... where.

I am opposed to divorce. I am ... of it.

The Judge Joseph Sabath of the Superior Court of Cook County who has heard more divorce cases and granted more decrees of divorce than any other judge in the land.

But the statement is not complete until it is mentioned that he holds the record ... for bringing wrangling ... uncomprehending couples into harmony again. The overwhelming majority of his reconciliations ... have been permanent.

In virtually every case where children are involved and where both parties appear in court the grizzled unbending fatherly judge adjourns the hearing, calls husband and wife into his chambers for a private talk. Court attendants have come to expect that after one of those conferences the suit will be withdrawn.

It's the Spirit

Marriage between mismated persons is not a holy institution, says the judge. It is a crime to force such people to live together. When a man and woman come into court and tell their story I am not paying so much attention to the facts they introduce as evidence. I am trying to understand the spirit back of them.

If they seem not to have the qualities for getting along together, if they do not appear as possible mates, I am anxious to grant a decree. I will go as far to separate them as I would in each situation to reconcile them.

Two requirements before marriage would cut the divorce problem in half is Judge Sabath's belief. One is that the ceremony should not be performed until 10 days after the license is issued. The other that each be examined physically and found free from communicable hereditary diseases.

Dance Marriage

At least half the divorce cases are the result of frivolous "dance hall" and night marriages, he says. A couple meets and decide in a few hours to marry because they have too much to drink or the girl is pretty or the man is a good dancer.

Money matters are not an important element provided the couple starting out determines each to help get along on what they have. I was just 18 when I married and I was earning only $10 a week. We got along and we've always been happy.

Under the strain of the court Judge Sabath's health broke last year and he was compelled to take a prolonged vacation.

If one considers divorce cases simply as a cold legal proposition they are no harder than any other class of work he explains. I can not let them go that way though. I've got to get the human elements adjusted as harmoniously as possible.

GREAT ARMADA WILL GATHER FOR SAN FRANCISCO CONVENTION

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept 5—Twelve superdreadnaughts, one armored cruiser, thirty-nine destroyers and small craft will compose the great armada which is to be present in San Francisco during the American Legion convention October 15 to 19. The presence of the fleet is expected to add much interest to the program for the visiting legionnaires. Admiral R. E. Coontz, commander in chief of the fleet, is personally supervising many of the arrangements in addition to that of the great naval review.

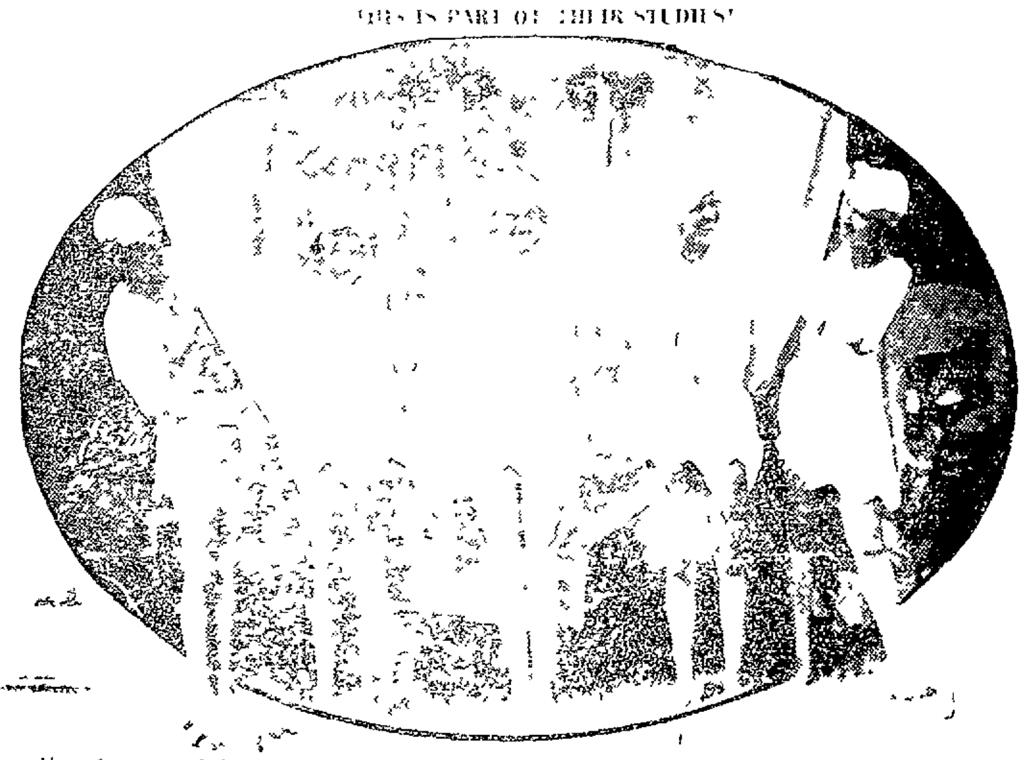

The fleet's contribution to the legion show will not be confined to one day's participation. Each night the ships will be illuminated. The 21,100 officers and men will participate in one of the great parades and the sailors will contribute an athletic field day on the water that will equal anything on land. Boxing, wrestling, push ball, water polo, baseball and other sports in addition to boat and swimming races will afford entertainment well worth seeing.

Admiral Coontz will receive the legion officials and guests at a dress reception on his ship the Seattle during the convention.

Fleet Night, reserved by the legion on Wednesday of the convention week, should afford entertainment for every visitor. Features planned for that evening will be of the most remarkable of the entire convention, and the whole sea-going gang will be turned loose in the convention city for a night of fun.

It is expected that vessels of naval units from several allied countries will be present during the convention to participate in the big naval review, making the spectacle in San Francisco Bay one of the most unusual ever seen on the west coast.

CHANGE OF LIFE

Florida Lady Was in a Miserable Condition, But Says She Found Cardui Helpful, and Got Well.

Altha, Fla.—In explaining how she found Cardui so helpful during change of life, Mrs Ella M Bailey, of Route 2, this place, said

"I became so weakened it was an effort for me to get around. I knew what was the matter, but I felt like I couldn't give up.

"I just dragged, and I certainly was nervous. I was so restless I could not sit down long—yet so weak I couldn't get about. It is a most miserable and such a helpless feeling.

"I would get depressed and out of heart.

"I began to feel, after awhile, there was no use to try to get well. This is all wrong, for it makes a person worse.

"I had heard of Cardui, and thought it might strengthen me. A neighbor had used it with good results.

"I took one bottle (of Cardui), then I saw I wasn't so nervous, so kept it up.

"Gradually the nervousness left me. I began to eat and sleep better. Was soon well and all right. Cardui did wonders for me, and I certainly do recommend it."

Thousands of other women have written, to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardui, and to recommend it to others.

This Little World

WASHINGTON, Sept. 5.—A hectic time is ahead of C. Bascom Slemp, secretary to President Coolidge, if his new job contemplates his cushioning all the contacts between Congress and the chief executive, in the opinion of William Tyler Page, clerk of the House of Representatives.

"Bascom was one of the insiders in the House for the last several sessions," Page says, "but, alas! Times have changed.

"A lot of the old leaders with whom he worked—Curle Joe, Frank Mondell, Phil Campbell and others—are gone.

"There'll be more than 130 new faces in Congress Dec. 3, and they'll be an independent, undisciplined, difficult crowd to handle. They won't know Bascom and they won't care. Their independence will be intensified by the very fact that the party majority is small—so small that the Wisconsin delegation alone will hold the balance of power.

"It'll take a Machiavelli to maintain harmony between Congress and the White House next winter, or I miss my guess."

Under the surface, official Washington is perturbed by Newton D. Baker's announcement that he'll bring the League of Nations issue to the front in addresses he will deliver following his return from Europe.

Baker is recognized as one of the most eloquent of Democratic orators and as perhaps closer to former President Wilson than any other member of the old Wilson cabinet. With Baker trying to tangle the world court proposal, sponsored by the Republicans, with the League of Nations, the job of Republican spellbinders in making clear just how far to go and no farther would be most difficult.

Therein, however, lies the chief hope of Hi Johnson and his hitter-enders.

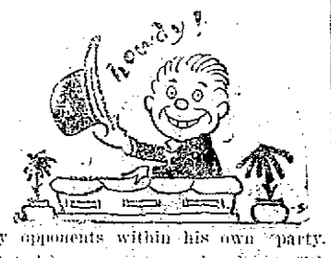

"The world court today means the League of Nations tomorrow," Baker will urge. "Therefore why not make it all at one step?"

The Johnsonites will pound on the same point. "The world court today means the league tomorrow. Therefore defeat the world court!"

Incidentally, the Baker pronouncement, despite his declaration that he has not political leader, leaves the impression here that he may be fishing for the support of ardent Wilson pro-league followers as "logical" Democratic-League of Nations candidates for president.

The livest political corpse in Washington is John T. Adams, chairman of the Republican National Committee, who hails from Dubuque, Ia.

About once each month Adams is declared ditched, sidetracked, dead-and-buried, either by the Democrats or by opponents within his own party. But Adams goes serenely along, with a firm grip on the throttle of the old machine.

When the new candidate is elected Adams will hand him his resignation, leaving him a free hand to pick the man to run his campaign. That is precedent. But in the pre-convention campaign—well, there'll be no swapping of horses at this stage. Too many sniping Indians about.

DOG LISTED AS PERSON

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 31.—In the Milwaukee city directory appears this line:

Reinnoldt, King, r 600 Twenty-seventh st.

"King" Reinnoldt is a dog, probably the only dog in the world listed in a city directory as a regular person. And his owner, George Reinnoldt, insists that he is just that—a regular fellow.

"King's" unusual distinction came about quite by accident. A young woman, canvassing the city for city directory names, asked Reinnoldt names of all who lived in the house.

The thought of the dog came naturally to his mind. He realized his mistake and he intended to correct it immediately, but someone interrupted them and the census taker left before he had a chance to explain.

"So King's name went in with the rest," Reinnoldt explained.

"Everyone in the community knows and loves King. School children stop to play with him and men on their way to work greet him as an old friend. He is only a mongrel, five years old, but he is a wonderful dog."

And, according to Page 1269, line 60, of the Milwaukee city directory, he certainly is.

Your Health

Reducing Weight

The situation confronting one who is fat, gaining, or trying to reduce, often is trying. It requires the diagnosis of a skilled physician to determine in the matter of your system and whether your fat trouble is familial, granular or overweight. The latter may be successfully treated. In case of family tendencies or the granular type there is not much hope of reducing.

First determine what your normal weight should be. No distinct gain should result after the age of 30. Ten pounds either way should not bother you.

Often reducing the use of fat-forming foods seems ineffective. One reason is you expect results too quickly.

Again, one may work strenuously at diet and exercise and register a gain. If so, your obesity probably has resulted in some disease. Your attempts have reduced the trouble to such an extent that your over-worked fat body is relieved and actually registers a gain.

In establishing yourself on a non-fat-forming diet, use these foods:

Thin vegetable soups with rye or bran bread, toast and a moderate amount of lean meat and fish with fresh vegetables, raw or stewed fruits with very little sugar.

Start the diet first; then walking and regular exercise. Do not attempt rapid reducing, it is dangerous. A pound, possibly two or three each week, is sufficient. Cold baths taken under your physician's orders will help. Walk from three to six miles every day, rain or shine. No mysterious "systems" or drugs are needed.

House Where G. A. R. Held First Meeting Still Standing

DECATUR, Ill., Sept. 5.—It was here on April 6, 1866, that the Grand Army of the Republic was born.

Still standing is the building where 12 charter members gathered about their leader, Major Benjamin F. Stephenson, founder of the organization, and held their first meeting.

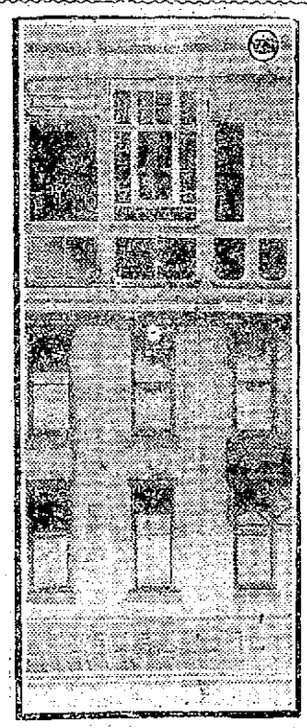

An interesting story is told about Major Stephenson at this time, to the effect, that after he had completed the ritual for establishment of the initial post who had served in the war, to set it in type.

After a prolonged search, however, he secured the services of Isaac Coltrin and Joseph Prior, two Decatur veterans, who put the ritual to press, and as a reward for their services were inducted into the body as charter constituents.

Original minutes of the first session are preserved in a local bank vault here where each year throng many of the thinning ranks as a Mecca for veneration.

The new order following its foundation grew by leaps and bounds and soon became a most powerful influence on the nation.

Major Stephenson, unhappily, was not privileged to witness fruition of his work. He died in 1871 and was buried in Mengard county.

BIRTHPLACE OF THE G. A. R.

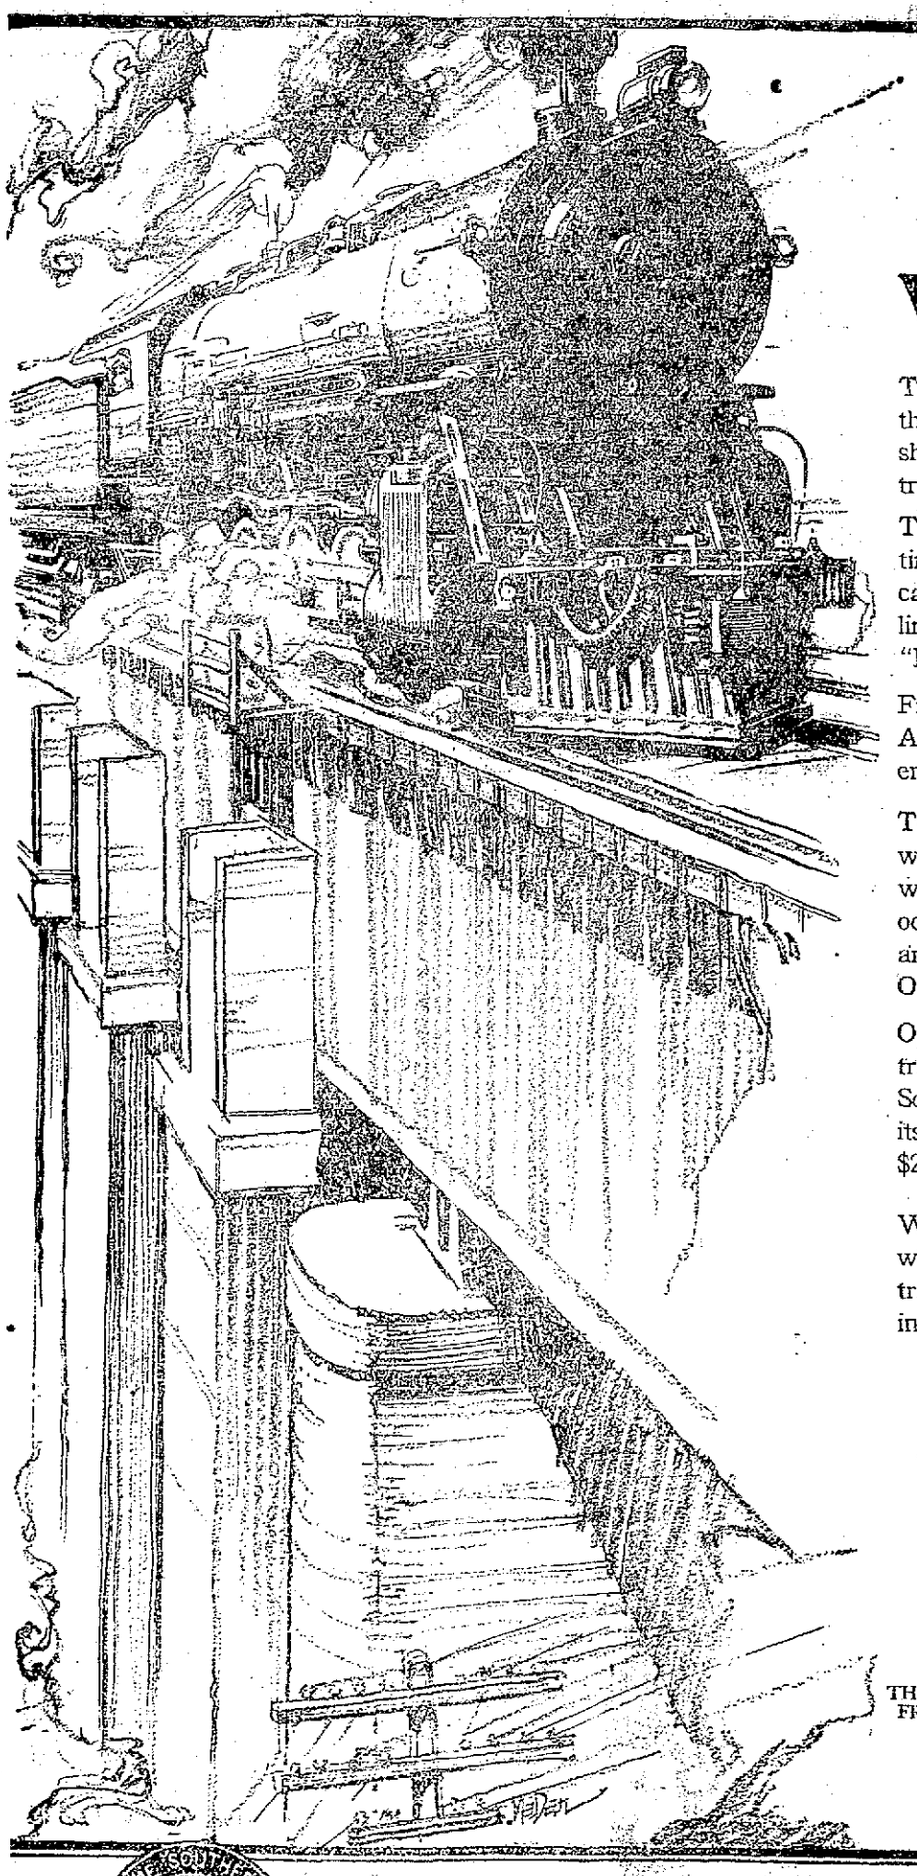

Congress caused a monument to be erected to his memory shortly after at Washington.

G. A. R. COMMANDER POSSIBILITIES

Gaylord Miller Saltzgaber (left), of Van Wert, O., former U. S. commissioner of pensions, and Dr. Louis F. Arensberg of Uniontown, Pa., both mentioned as likely possibilities to the office of national commander of the Grand Army of the Republic, which holds its reunion and election at Milwaukee, Wis., during the week of Sept. 2.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

Keeping pace with the South

The first American locomotive to enter actual service was the "Best Friend" of 1830. Built in a New York foundry, shipped by sea to Charleston, it hauled the first passenger train on what is now the Southern Railway System.

Twenty-two hundred locomotives, some of them fifty times as heavy as this famous pioneer engine, and 70,000 cars, operating on 8,300 miles of Southern Railway System lines, are now doing the work that was begun by the "Best Friend."

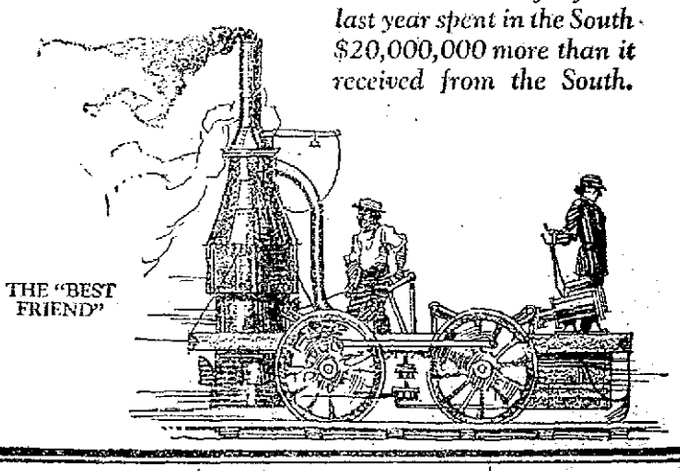

From the Ohio and the Potomac to the Gulf, from the Atlantic to the Mississippi, the far-flung rails of the Southern reach across twelve states with 40,000,000 inhabitants.

The Southern serves the South—from the northern gateways at Washington, Cincinnati and Louisville—and the western gateways at St. Louis and Memphis—to the ocean ports of Norfolk, Charleston, Savannah, Brunswick and Jacksonville—and the Gulf ports of Mobile and New Orleans.

Operated by men of the South, who have been bred in its traditions to understand its problems and its needs, the Southern keeps pace with the South. The investment in its properties is now more than $710,000,000, of which $285,000,000 has been expended in the past two decades.

With the continued cooperation of the people of the South, we will be enabled to command the capital for the greater transportation facilities that Southern development will inevitably demand.

Southern Railway System last year spent in the South $20,000,000 more than it received from the South.
